

Young Survivors In Action

#MovingForward

Young Survivors in Action focuses on the issues and concerns facing younger women diagnosed with breast cancer. The main goal of Young Survivors In Action is to provide networking, support, and education to young women diagnosed with breast cancer in their 20's, 30's and 40's and early 50's. Topics include but are not limited to nutrition, fertility, motherhood, stress, self-care, and continuing to live life to the fullest.

Our events are designed to foster healing throughout your journey through a variety of group activities.

"I have been a Triple Negative breast cancer Survivor for five (5) years. I became a participant of the Delaware Breast Cancer Coalition's Young Survivors in Action program at its initiation. I have thoroughly enjoyed the times that we have shared. Being in the presence of other young survivors simply gives me a sense of comfort. I can truly say that this program is uplifting, unifying, and fun!"

- Young Survivor in Action

Join our tribe

Contact Amanda Perdue
(302) 672-6435 Ext. 1005
aperdue@debreastcancer.org
www.youngsurvivors.org

Brought to you by
DELAWARE
BREAST CANCER
COALITION

